

California Botanical Society

2004-2005 Schedule of Speakers

7:30 p.m. on the 3rd Thursday of the month (except February)

2063 Valley Life Sciences Building
University of California, Berkeley

September 16	The secret life of ferns Raymond J. Cranfill University Herbarium University of California, Berkeley
October 21	Relicts and refugia: late Quaternary forests of the Klamath Mountains James A. Wanket Department of Geography Sacramento State University
November 18	The cost of flowers in ecological currencies Susan Lambrecht Department of Environmental Studies University of California, Santa Cruz
January 20	Bryogeography of California: what can we learn from the mosses about past and future climate changes? James Shevock Californian Cooperative Ecosystem Studies Unit University of California, Berkeley
February 19 ---	Annual Banquet & Graduate Student Meeting Romberg Tiburon Center, Tiburon, CA Center for Tropical Research (CITRO): A New Initiative in a Time of Crisis Arturo Gomez-Pompa Department of Plant Sciences University of California, Riverside
March 17	Dynamics of the last, intact, Jeffrey pine ecosystem from northwest Mexico: US restoration implications Scott L. Stephens Department of Environmental Science, Policy and Management University of California, Berkeley
April 21	Effect of differing substrates on plant physiology and distribution in the alpine Sierra Nevada Elizabeth H. Wenk Department of Integrative Biology University of California, Berkeley
May 19	Diversification of floral development in the papilionoid legume tribe Amorpheae Michelle McMahon Department of Evolution and Ecology University of California, Davis

Lectures are open to all. Refreshments will be served following each seminar. Information and reservation forms for the annual banquet will be mailed to members. Non-members are welcome. For registration forms and additional information please call 510/643-7008 or visit our website (www.calbotsoc.org).